Final Webinar SWIRL Project

In recent years, the share of people having a second job has increased, a phenomenon that has markedly transformed their profiles and fragmented their working paths, leading to the growth of the so-called 'slash workers'. These workers display a slash in their job title since they carry out multiple activities at the same time. The advent of digital platforms has accelerated this trend, making it also more evident. Who are the multiple jobholders in Europe? What are their labour and social needs? Who represents them collectively?

On 11 and 12 May, from 9:30 to 13:00, we will present and discuss the results of the SWIRL project - Slash Workers and Industrial ReLations (VS/2019/0076), funded by DG Employment, Social Affairs and Inclusion, promoted by Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore, l'Institut Polytechnique de Paris-Télécom Paris (France), Universidad de Cádiz, Institut für Sozialwissenschaftliche Forschung eV München (Germany), Institute for the Study of the Societies and Knowledge at the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences (Bulgaria), Acta (Italian Association of Advanced Tertiary Consultants) and Smart Fondation (Belgium).

The webinars will be organised into four panels: the first will present the profiles, the trajectories of work and the specific needs of the slash workers; the second will deal with the issue of multiple jobs through digital platforms; the third will discuss the institutional framework and the potential regulatory responses regarding the phenomenon of slash work; the fourth will elucidate the emerging models of collective protection and the representation practices devoted to the slash workers.

During each panel, the presentation of the results of the Swirl research will be followed by a discussion on findings with external researchers and representatives of institutions to discuss the policy implications emerging from the project.
